RE: FIREARM DENIAL

Dear MANUEL PEREIRA MONTEIRO:

When a person applies to purchase a firearm in California, the California Department of Justice (DOJ) is required by state law to examine its records in order to determine whether the purchaser is eligible under state law to purchase and possess firearms. The DOJ is also authorized to check certain federal records to determine whether the purchaser is prohibited under federal law from purchasing or possessing firearms.

You recently applied to purchase a firearm. The DOJ has tentatively identified a record in a state or federal database which indicates that you are prohibited by state and/or federal law from purchasing or possessing firearms. This determination was based upon information provided by you in your application to purchase a firearm such as your name, date of birth, driver's license number and physical description, but has not been confirmed with fingerprint comparison. It is possible that the record may not be yours and may belong to another individual whose name and identifying information is similar to yours.

Your recent firearms purchase application has been denied based on our review of state and/or federal records that matched your identifying information, and revealed the following firearms prohibiting information:

Misdemeanor domestic violence convictions (273.5PC, 243(E)(1) PC Convictions over 10 years old) - Federal Brady Act, effected November 30, 1998.
